ANNOUNCEMENTS

COLONIAL THEATRE.

Comus Musical Comedy Delights Immense Thrill at Colonial.

The quaint and homey old Breed theatre was aroused from the lethargy of years last evening when the dashingly and sprightly Comus Musical Comedy company held the boards for so long forsaken by the legitimate, in favor of the ultra-modern motion picture exhibitions. Re-named, the Colonial theatre of today is all that is required by the devotees of the highest and best in motion pictures. Accepting these picture attractions as the best in their line, the patrons have been supplied from time to time with the best in the musical line, frequently presenting famous stars of the East and other famous operatic enterprises. There has been a tendency to desire more of this good music, and to this end the management of the Colonial has bent all efforts, and the result is the securing of the great Comus Musical Comedy company, for this week. In presenting the cortege of clever players to the patrons of the Colonial, the management feels proud that besides the fact that every person in it is a soloist of especial merit, the whole group is made up of the strongest singing companies if its size recognized in the musical world. The company consists of seven people, every one of whom is an artist in his line, and only the newest and best in the song line, is presented. Heading the big song revue is Miss Harriet G. Moran, star of many other high-class singing companies who have visited this city. Her voice is equal to a whole chorus and her very scholarly rendition of her song, "This Must Be Love," called for triple encores, as did "Hello, Frisco," in which she was assisted by the entire company, working in throughout the house in a manner that caught the patrons with a cyclone rapidity.

Miss Katherine Deen, whose unusual and exceedingly musical voice is heard to such excellent advantage in "While the River of Love Flows On," captivated her hearers by her masterly rendition and fascinating presence. Little Miss Graham, another of the brilliant workers, appears in a Scotch novelty act, in which her sweet singing and alluring dancing were the features. Everywhere, anytime, encores were in order; always two and many times three.

Mr. Curry, the comedy man of the case, proves himself to be the possessor of a hilarious makeup, in which he casts about in his character part, convulsing the audiences. Mr. Tom Whalen will be remembered in the Human Stock company, and he presents an acting bit that is worthy of special mention, while Joe Murray, is a fascinating portrayal of the breezy Western character that heads the first playlet, entitled "The Sheriff."

A screaming playlet entitled "Casey at the Front," closes the musical part of the programme, which includes "I Love the Whole United States," an ensemble by the entire company.

Thoroughly up-to-date pictures precede and follow the musical part of the programme. There will be an entire change of programme tomorrow. New songs, new jokes, new dramas, and new plays to play.

Matinee, adults 10c, children 5c. Evening 10c. The augmented orchestra is one of the strongest playing organizations in this city, under the capable direction of Musical Director Dowsett.

"NOBODY HOME."

At the Davis Thursday, December 2
—Seats on Sale Today at 10 a. m.

Nobody Home with its wealth of music, comedy and dancing novelty that so completely captivated New York all last season and has recently enslaved the studios of Boston, will be the attraction at the Davis theatre, on Thursday evening, December 2.

The company is owned and directed by the well-known Mr. John P. Slocum, who has made both a study and success of musical plays, principally because he stops at no expense for beauty and quality, both as to his productions and his cast. Nobody Home is unique and original as far as musical plays go inasmuch as it really has something of a story to start with which is told without resort to vulgarity and is actually funny. Then again the music is of the kind that lingers in your memory and you find yourself whistling. The dancing is both fascinating and unique and lots of it, and then there are the girls all distinct types of American and foreign beauty who sing and dance more than ordinarily well and can act, too—if you are not too particular.

The cast of Nobody Home includes such noted players as Percival Knight, Zoe Barnett, Mabel Withee, Della Ni-

"THE BIRTH OF A NATION."

Orpheum Theatre, Danielson.

The Birth of a Nation is the most remarkable attraction of recent years in American stage annals. It uses 15,000 people to tell its story and 3,000 horses and their quota to its bigness. The epic links history and romance in a way never attempted before. Its basic scenes are founded in some of the most stirring events in the nation's development and these are contrasted with human appeals and family interests which are after all the essentials of true drama. Great battles of the Civil war are fought before your eyes. Lee surrenders to Grant at Appomattox. Lincoln is assassinated, as actually as the scene took place fifty years ago in Ford's theatre, Washington. The south before and after the war is pictured in its most interesting phases. Wild rides of the Klansmen lend a dash and spirit to the performance. All remains exactly as it was given originally in New York city and Boston when this marvelous picture triumphed all and created more comment than all the plays that have been seen in a decade. It is a picture in a lifetime: one that will in all probability never be duplicated and for that reason should be viewed by every man, woman and child in this city. Once seen, it is never to be forgotten, and since the Orpheum theatre has undoubtedly been crowded during its engagement of this remarkable spectacle which commences next Monday for a period of three days, it

A Smooth, White Skin That Defies Weather

During the coming months of biting winds and intense cold you who would keep your skins smooth, white and velvety, should turn your attention to mercifully remove a chapped, roughened complexion. The weatherbeaten cuticle, the complexion is kept in perfect condition. Nothing else will so effectively remove a chapped, roughened complexion as the weatherbeaten cuticle. If your skin be blotchy, pimply, freckled, coarse, sallow or over-tanned, it should be treated with a skin cream. A slightly complexion in less than a fortnight. Use the wax nightingale like cold cream. If weather, age or poor health has turned your face with wrinkles, here's good news. You can quickly remove every line by using a harmless, reliable skin cream. The cream is so simple, so easy to use, so effective in solving all skin troubles. The cream is so simple, so easy to use, so effective in solving all skin troubles. The cream is so simple, so easy to use, so effective in solving all skin troubles.
